

LUNCH AND LEARN IS BACK!!!

Popping into Jewish Podcasts

Each week, we will be introduced to a different Jewish podcast and explore its purpose. We will then listen to all or part of that Podcast and discuss the issues raised by the presenters.

Thursdays; January 12th, 19th, 26th; February 2nd, 9th, 16th

Noon – 1:30PM

Join us in person in Room 300 or Zoom in online on Thursdays between Noon and 1:30PM.

January 12th - We will be introduced “UNORTHODOX” which bills itself as the universe’s leading Jewish podcast, hosted by Mark Oppenheimer, Stephanie Butnick, and Liel Leibovitz. Every week they bring New of the Jews, interesting guests – one Jewish and one gentile – and so much more.

January 19th - You may have read it in The Forward, but today, the column has migrated to a Podcast. We will listen to a “A BINTEL BRIEF”. Two Jewish mothers, dish on the dilemmas of Jewish American life, identity, culture and politics.

January 26th – “WOMEN RABBIS TALK” – Yes, we do! Two women rabbis talking with other women rabbis about being women rabbis. Let ‘s listen in!

February 2nd - Yonit Levi of Channel 12 Israel and Jonathan Freedland of The Guardian are two Jews on the news. Each week on the podcast “UNHOLY”, Levi in Tel Aviv and Freedland in London give their take on development in politics and life in Israel, the US, the UK and around the world.

February 9th – We will listen in as Dan Libenson and Lex Rofeberg analyze pressing issues for 21st century American Judaism. In their podcast “JUDAISM UNBOUND” they mix their own analysis with interview of leading thinkers, practitioners, and even “regular Jews”. Dan and lex look to push the boundaries of what it means to be Jewish in the 21st century.

February 16th - We re-unite with a friend of our congregation – Rabbi Richard Address, as we listen in and discuss his podcast “JEWISH SACRED AGING” which features news and interviews on the subject of Jewish Sacred Aging.
